NEAR EAST CONFERENCE, ALSO, VIRTUALLY ENDS IN ENTIRE FAILURE

Turk and Greek Envoys Reject Allied Proposals to Revise Treaty of Sevres—Austria's Plea Turned Down By Lloyd-George.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, March 12.—The Near East Conference which was called here to devise means of preventing further bloodshed in the Turkish empire virtually ended today in complete failure. It is the second collapse since the great international conference called in London to discuss German indemnity ended in disruption last Monday.

Both the Turks and Greeks refused the settlement proposed by the Allies, although the Turks had originally announced their willingness to accept the Allied proposal for the sending of commissions into Thrace and Smyrna to study nationalities as a basis for revising the treaty of Sevres.

The reaction of the Turks came suddenly, following the signing of an agreement with France on Friday. By this agreement, hostilities between the Turkish Nationalists and French will cease immediately. When the Near East delegates assembled Premier Lloyd-George addressed the Greeks and Turks amplifying the Allied proposals for revising the treaty of Sevres. The Turk and Greek envoys sought to amend the Allies' plan for revision, but Premier Lloyd-George refused to accede, saying that the Allied proposals would have to be accepted as a whole. The Greeks and Turks refused to accept the Allied plan saying they would have to consult with their governments first.

After the Near East discussions, Austria's appeal for help was taken up. Austrian delegates asked for an immediate pledge of help on an extended scale. Coal is the foremost need, the Austrians said. They painted a gloomy picture of Austria and especially Vienna with no food and no fuel and the people in rags.

Premier Lloyd-George after listening to the Austrians' plea said it was entirely unlikely that the Allies could accede at the present time.

Experts for both the Allies and Austria will review the Austrian situation tonight.

RUNAWAY FRIDAY FULL OF THRILLS

There was a rather thrilling runaway on the downtown streets Friday when a team of horses hitched to a wagon got frightened on Ann street and ran away. In the wagon sat Louis Baech, the well known horse dealer, and a young man, who was driving. The runaway dashed through Ann street towards Mill street and so frightened were the horses that they plunged head on into the Preston stone wall on Mill street at the head of Ann street. The impact hurled the horses to the sidewalk and threw Baech and the boy out. The horses picked themselves up, and dashed on down Mill street, and in front of Pittsfield & Draper's cigar factory swung the wagon sideways against a pole on the corner wrecking the wagon and the harness broke freeing the horses. They continued on out Mill street into Habronet avenue, and were finally caught at Meadow street. Baech had his leg injured, and both he and the boy were bruised and shaken up, but not severely hurt. The horses were badly cut, and the wagon a wreck.

LOYD WANTS TO KEEP ITS DEPOT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, March 12.—A petition from residents of Lloyd, Ulster county, has been filed with the Public Service Commission. Second National, protesting against the reported continuance of the Central New England Railway's station at that place. It is alleged that discontinuance will be detrimental to the interests of the locality, the summary removal requirements being especially large. The petition asks that the hearing be granted before action is taken on the discontinuance of the service.

RESULTS SO FAR PLEASE FRENCH

Except Few Who Want Still More German Territory—Government Regarded as Victorious at London, to Get Vote of Confidence.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, March 12.—"If the Germans formulate new indemnity proposals we shall meet them with the same firmness that was displayed at London," declared Premier Aristide Briand today. "We are resolved not to recede from the line we have chosen."

Replying to criticism that the military and economic penalties against Germany will prove ineffective, the premier said:

"They will soon show their efficacy."

"The results of the London conference were discussed at a cabinet meeting this morning when the premier made a report to his colleagues. The ministers also considered the reply which will be made to the government interpellations in the chamber of deputies early next week."

The debate in the chamber is expected to lead to a confidence vote on Thursday. Members of the ministry believe that the government will get an overwhelming majority in view of the turn the indemnity situation has taken. The outcome of the London conference is accepted as a big victory for France and for the French policy toward Germany.

The importance of separating the Rhineland from Germany and linking it closer to France economically is emphasized in dispatches to the Matin and Echo de Paris today.

Stephen Lauzanne, editor of the Matin, pointed out that the amount gained from the seizure of German customs houses and the establishment of a customs frontier along the Rhine will not exceed 50,000,000 gold marks, ($12,500,000), annually. He suggests that the Allies extend their sanctions or penalties to include seizure of the coal mines in the Ruhr basin and the great Rhineland forests which are the property of the German government.

M. Lauzanne estimated that not only would the new duties increase the French customs levy to 500,000,000 gold marks annually, but said the moral effect of separating Germany from her richest province would be enormous.

On the other hand, Gustave Herre, writing in La Victoire, warns the nations against the successes of their scheme, declaring it would give Germany a legitimate right to wage a future war of revenge. He pointed to the case of Alsace Lorraine as an example.

Shipments of food from Germany into the occupied Rhineland will not feel the full force of the Allied penalties but will be taxed lightly, according to a Coblentz despatch to the Echo de Paris. The Allied authorities took this course to prevent an increase in the cost of living in the Rhineland. The Allied program is expected to be fully arranged in four days. It is probable that the heavy tax imposed upon other German goods will have the effect of turning the people of the Rhineland from the German to French markets for their purchases.

ODDS AND ENDS

The police board met Friday evening, but only routine matters were disposed of.

OCCUPIED CITIES NOT UNFRIENDLY

By Telegram to The Freeman.
French Military Headquarters, Neuas, March 12.—Allied military leaders expressed gratification today over the success of their measures to force German obedience to the entente's indemnity decisions.

There has been neither fighting nor friction with the townspeople of Dusseldorf, Duisburg and Ruhrort, the three German cities that were occupied.

The workers are pursuing their uneventful routine, which was not interrupted by the entrance of allied troops.

A delegation of union leaders called upon General Gaucher in Dusseldorf Friday and assured him that the workers are not hostile towards the troops occupying that city. The unionists said that it is the chief desire of the workers to remain on good terms with the troops, knowing then that they would not be disturbed nor troubled.

This was good news to the French commander who feared that an attempt might be made to bring about a general strike to embarrass the allies.

Belgian troops left Dusseldorf for Duisburg on Friday. In the meantime the French are searching the houses at Dusseldorf for firearms for they are determined to disarm the city completely despite the present passive attitude of the people.

The restrictions upon cafes and the movement of crowds in the streets have been lifted.

OHIO RACE WAR QUIETED

Many Negroes and White Men Shot at Springfield Following Assault on 11-Year Old White Girl and Wounding of Policeman.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Springfield, O., March 12.—Springfield is quiet after hours of rioting. Troops from nearby towns arrived early this morning and are cooperating with civil authorities in maintaining order. Guard companies from London and Columbus were the first to arrive. Other companies came in later and still more are on the way.

Race feeling has been high since the assault of a 11-year-old white girl by a negro Monday night. Police have been watching the situation with care, but it was not until 1 o'clock this morning that street fighting commenced.

A call for state troops was made by local authorities when a negro shot Policeman Joseph Ryan last night. Although shot three times, Officer Ryan, who was taken to a hospital, is expected to recover.

Citizens poured into the downtown business section after the shooting, which occurred in the Yellow Springs street district. Later, however, the white men dispersed peacefully, and fears of the formation of a mob bent on wreaking vengeance upon the negro population, were allayed for the time being.

Ryan, it is claimed, was shot by a negro who was being searched for firearms. Race disorders followed in the Yellow Springs street negro district. Five negroes are said to have been shot, one man, Shirley Shafer, being taken to a hospital.

In an effort to apprehend Officer Ryan's assailant, every available officer was detailed to service in the Yellow Springs districts.

Shots are said to have been exchanged between officers and negroes who stood behind trees and buildings, firing in the dark and making use of nearby street lights. It was reported that about 14 negroes were hit.

Caught scattering dynamite near the negro section, a white man was arrested.

Before the police broke up a crowd of white men and boys in the downtown section, the crowd had threatened to storm the jail and city hall.

Soon after the trouble started, Mayor Westcott ordered pool rooms and soft drink places closed, directed citizens not to carry firearms and decreed that all business houses remain closed until 5 o'clock this evening.

In an effort to get out of harm's way, many negroes climbed trees, while others, it is said, hid the city by interurban line and automobiles and on foot.

The machine gun companies have mounted guns around the county jail.

Every precaution is being taken to prevent the Saturday afternoon crowds from causing more trouble here today.

NO HISTORIANS

Named by Some Ulster Communities Requested to Do So.

A year or so ago James Sullivan, New York state historian, called the attention of supervisors of towns and presidents of villages in Ulster county to the need for appointing local historians under the provisions of chapter 181, laws of 1919, that each community's part in the World War might be chronicled in the volumes which are about to be published by the state on "New York State's Part in the World War." These historians have not been appointed for the following towns and villages in Ulster county: Towns—Denning, Gardiner, Kingston, Lloyd, Olive, Shandaken, Shawangunk, Ulster Wawarsing, Villages—Marlborough, Rifton, Pine Hill, Rosendale.

KINGSTON CASH FOR KINGSTON

Is Slogan Of Thrift Drive—Every Share Purchased Next Week In Savings And Loan Association Adds To Money Needed To Help Housing Situation Here.

The building of three hundred new houses would add $1,000,000 to the city assessment rolls, and would benefit not only the renter but the householder and taxpayer in helping reduce taxes was the gist of the message brought to the workers in the Chamber of Commerce and Savings and Loan Association drive which opens next week in this city at a meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening.

The team captains and workers who had gathered to receive the necessary material to be used in the campaign and also final instructions were told on the proposition for those present who were not already members in either of the two associations took out shares that evening.

John E. Mahar, general chairman of the campaign, presided and called upon Arthur C. Connelly, secretary of the uptown association, to explain the plans and purposes of the drive, and also to answer any questions regarding the operations of the two savings and loan associations which was not understood by the campaign workers.

HAVE HELPED 1,100 OWN HOMES

Mr. Connelly said that Irvin McCausland, secretary of the downtown association, and himself had gotten together and after some figuring had found that since the two loan associations had started operations 1,100 householders had been helped to own their own homes in the city through the associations.

Kingston Needs Houses.

It was Secretary Sydney D. M. Hudson of the Chamber of Commerce who sounded the slogan Kingston money for Kingston, and he explained the Chamber of Commerce angle of the campaign. Kingston was in need of more houses, and if the industrial plants of the city were to expand houses were needed for the workers. Every share bought now meant so much money for the associations to loan to prospective home owners.

Mayor Canfield Spoke.

It was brought out that the two associations at the present time have received more applications to borrow than they have the money to lend, and for that reason investing in shares in the associations not only was an investment of the best kind, but it increased the lending facilities of the associations.

Mayor Canfield said that the campaign should appeal to the residents of the city not only from an investment standpoint but also as a civic standpoint for the more houses there were built in Kingston the more it would add to the assessment rolls of the city and consequently reduce taxes.

Thomas J. Comerford who is chairman of the industrial committee reported that his team workers were ready to start in Monday and canvass the various industrial plants of the city.

Dr. Ellis Approved Campaign.

The Rev. Dr. Charles G. Ellis, pastor of the Roundout Presbyterian Church, was called upon by Chairman Mahar and responded by saying that he strongly believed in the associations. If people owned their own homes they became better citizens and better Americans. A campaign of this character should receive the whole hearted support of the residents of the city.

In closing Chairman Mahar announced that the first meeting of the workers for reports would be at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, the second on Friday evening and the third on Monday.

PACKERS AND MEN DISREGARD PLEA

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, March 12.—Notwithstanding President Harding's plea that the dispute between meat packers and their employees be held in abeyance until the controversy can be reviewed by the department of labor, both sides are proceeding today along lines of action already laid down.

At the headquarters of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, strike ballots printed yesterday, were being mailed out to the 400 local unions throughout the United States, taking the strike to be authorized at a meeting in Chicago Thursday.

At the office of the meat packers, plans were being laid forward for putting into operation on Monday the reduction in wages and the changes in hours of labor that were announced last week. These changes will affect 25,000 workers in all parts of the United States.

It is expected that the result of the strike vote will be known by Wednesday of next week. If the packers win, the union leaders believe that the workers will be forced to accept a 10 percent wage cut.

At the headquarters of the packers, the demand that the packers must halt the program of wage cut and hours will be a condition of arbitration.

MILLER CARRYING OUT ECONOMY PROMISE; THOUSAND JOBS CUT OUT

Total of Appropriation Bills Will Be $134,000,000, or $71,000,000 Less Than First Estimates and Well Under Estimated Income.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, March 12 (Special).—The annual budget or appropriation bills will be introduced in the legislature next week after they have been subjected to the most painstaking scrutiny by the members of the finance and ways and means committee of the senate and assembly. The total of the bills will be $134,000,000 which means that the original estimate covering the requests of heads of state departments have been cut $71,000,000.

In order to effect the saving shown above over one thousand positions which existed last year have been eliminated. Practically all of the departments have been shown of a place or two and in some instances entire bureaus will have been wiped out through the aid of legislation destined to repeal them.

The expense of the state government in 1920 was $145,000,000 in round numbers. These figures include the cost of the extraordinary expense of the legislature called to enact additional housing laws. This year the cost, as at present estimated, will be $11,000,000 less than 1920.

The income of the state for the present fiscal year is expected to be $142,000,000, so that unless there are unforeseen additional expenses there will be a tidy balance on the credit side of the state.

So ardent have the members of the financial committees of the legislature been in their endeavor to meet the economical viewpoint of Governor Miller that patronage which heretofore has been regarded as natural has been tossed overboard so that the ship of state might ride on a more even financial keel. Predictions that the wall of protest which the decapitated office holders will raise will develop into something more serious politically is made by those who have friends who will walk the patronage plank when the end of the present fiscal year dawns.

The chairman of the finance committee and the ways and means committee have acted in absolute harmony with Governor Miller and have slashed and cut irrespective as to where the chips might fly in order to bring down the cost of government and redeem the campaign pledges of the executive.

BRINGS TOGETHER AGED ULSTER MEN

It is seldom that so many of Ulster county's aged residents are brought together in one place as during the past few days while the Geiger-Divine case was being tried in supreme court. The greater percentage of the witnesses in the case were old men who had resided in the vicinity of Ellenville and Ulster Heights for a half century or more.

The total age of 11 of the witnesses appearing in the case was 816 years, an average of over 74 years. The oldest witnesses who appeared were 83 years old and the replies made to some of the questions of the attorneys by these old men were interesting. One of the gentlemen in reply to the question as to when he moved to that section of the country replied, "The year Buchanan was elected president," this was in 1856. Another witness had taught school there in 1855.

Women Free Of All Care At Hot Roast Pork Dinner Given By Men's Bible Class Of Fair Street Reformed Church—Horse Crows Given Clever Entertainment.

The hot roast pork dinner given Friday night by the Men's Bible Class of the Fair Street Reformed Church was a success. The ladies and gentlemen in attendance were given a most interesting and clever entertainment by the men of the class.

The supper was all that one could wish it to be. Besides roast pork there were mashed potatoes, dressing, peas, cabbage salad, coffee and baked apples stuffed with raisins and topped with whipped cream. After the supper there was an entertainment, but George Main who ran that part of the show, aside from keeping everyone's cup filled with coffee, was kind enough to hold up the entertainment until the K. P.'s finished their tuckers with the dishes.

Horse Crows who when he isn't trimming windows at the Union State store, is studying ways of relieving himself from ropes and haws and chains was the entertainer and Houdini had better practice up on a few new tricks or Crows will catch him as he stands at the handoff king.

Mr. Crows was very ably assisted by Clyde Wendenburg who tied, or as Mr. Crows says, "thought he tied all the ropes that bound the entertainment." He showed that no mere person could do his tricks. Mr. Crows invited a man in the audience to go on the stage and have his hands manacled behind his back. Ed Burke who aims to please, consented to be the subject but no persuasion, even that which he used in selling pills, could persuade him to go on the stage. Mr. Crows also demonstrated a few more of his tricks and a few more of his tricks and a few more of his tricks.

At 10:15 and 10:30 Mr. Crows was assisted by a few more of his tricks and a few more of his tricks and a few more of his tricks.

STATE INCOME TAX INFORMATION

The New York state income tax-payers in Ulster county should file their returns with District Director J. Deputz Hasbrouck, 518 Broadway, Kingston, on or before April 15, 1921.

A. H.—In 1914 I bought stock in the Oceanic Land Company and later in 1917 acquired additional holdings. In 1918 under mortgage foreclosure my investment became worthless. I neglected to deduct this loss from my 1919 return. May I do so in my 1920 return?

Answer—No. Your stockholdings in this company were without value on January 1, 1919, the effective date of the state law and, therefore, such loss is not deductible in the return for either year.

Bert B.—I am a new farmer. In my return I can't figure how to treat purchases of a calf, a horse, a cow and five turkeys, hire of two emigrant cars for moving my family from Minnesota and fire insurance.

Answer—Your purchases for the farm are capital investments and not deductible and your payments for the rental of the emigrant cars are personal expenses and not deductible. Your insurance premium is deductible, if it covers your barn but not that part which covers your dwelling.

Cobleskill.—In June, 1920, I received $1,020 on maturity of a life insurance policy. What amount of this is income?

Answer—Only the difference between the cash surrender value of the policy on January 1, 1919, plus payments subsequently made on the amount which you received on its maturity.

57th Street.—Due to a good market I sold several pieces of real estate, taking small cash payments and large mortgages. How do I figure the income on these transactions?

Answer—The entire profit or loss from these sales is income in the year of sale. The mortgages are considered the same as cash payments. If in later years you suffer losses by reason of default in payment of them, such amounts are properly deductible in that year.

Doctor.—For a thesis which I submitted to a medical magazine, I received $400 and a gold medal. Are these amounts income?

Answer—Yes.

Essex.—I bought $25 worth of tickets for a raffle and won an automobile which I sold for $1,200. What is my income?

Answer—$1,175.

Whitehall.—Am I allowed to offset my return of dividends from stocks by amount of $22.14 which the corporation pays at the source to the government?

Answer—No. Such amount should be included in block 22-B as additional income to you.

Buenos Aires.—I am the wife of a commercial attaché of a foreign embassy, living in Washington, and receive $4,000 yearly from rental or a residence in New York city. Is this taxable income to me?

Answer—Yes, it is even though your home in Washington is considered according to court decisions the soil of the country which your husband represents.

E. J. W.—(a) How about dividends on an insurance policy which is not due until 1923? (b) Do I have to report my earnings on my building and loan association dues?

Answer—(a) Dividends on an unexpired policy are not taxable. (b) If this credit passes without restriction it is taxable in the year of credit, otherwise, it is not taxable until maturity of the share when the distribution in excess of your payments is income.

C. S. Co.—Two members of our firm live in Pennsylvania. They are not actively connected with our stores. Do we attach form 204-A and advise the Pennsylvania members required to pay an income tax on their share of our net earnings?

Answer—Yes, and the non-resident members of the partnership are taxable on their net income from New York state sources.

Finger Nails History.

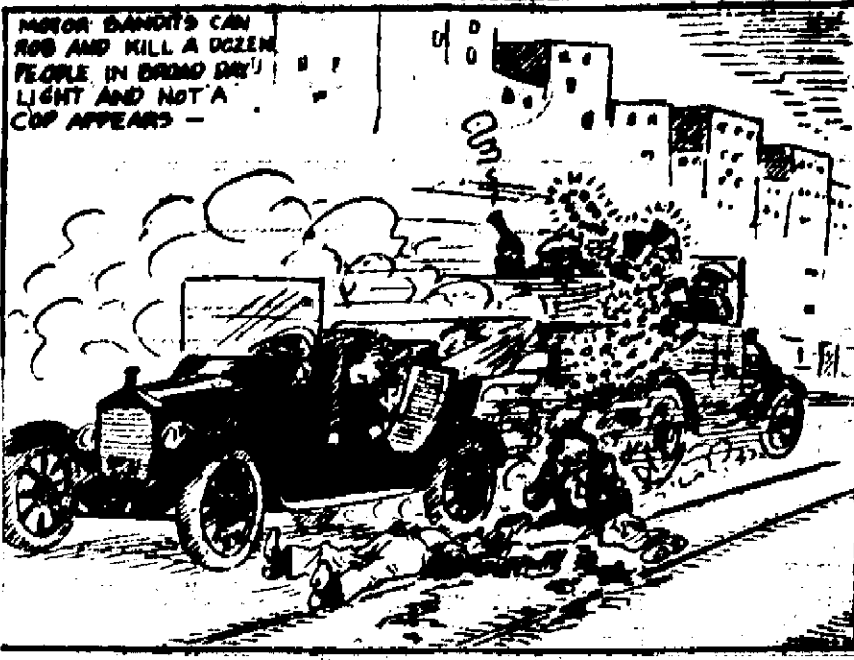

The rapidity of the growth of the nails is indicative of the health. The growth of the nails on the right hand is in most people more rapid than of those on the left hand. Another curious point is, that the rate of growth of the nail depends directly on the length of the finger. Thus the nails on the two middle fingers of men grow more rapidly than those on the first and third fingers, respectively, and these in turn are more rapid in their growth than those on the little fingers.

Ideal
ARCOLA
Heating Outfits

"My Dream of Comfort came true—"

"Since having your system installed, I am using no more coal to heat the entire house than I formerly used in one stove, or in one grate, and besides had a cold house. Now—my house is even temperature from the front to the back, and it is a genuine pleasure to return from the theatre and find the house in an even temperature."

"I am so well pleased with my ARCOLA that I hope you sell every man in (—) that needs one, and you are at liberty to use this letter in any manner you see fit. If the people have any doubt whatever as to the genuineness of this letter, they may call at my residence, and we will take pleasure in showing them the plant. Our dream of comfort came true."

—Unsolicited praise from an ARCOLA owner—name on request.

Comfort for All

You, too, may enjoy the comfort, luxury and protection of Hot Water Heating. The low price of IDEAL-ARCOLA Outfits makes them available for the smallest homes. Extravagant to be without them.

Hard or Soft Coal

Many an owner is using less coal to heat the entire home than was formerly required to heat one or two rooms (see above letter). The cost of installation is moderate. Outlasts the building.

How It Works

The ARCOLA is especially designed for the small home. It may be placed in any room with a chimney connection; it circulates hot water through small pipes to AMERICAN Radiators, evenly warming all rooms. Thousands of families now enjoy the luxury of this economical hot water heat—equal in comfort to the First Mansion in the land.

PREDICTS NEW COAL CRISIS

"Railway Age" Points To Decline of 45 Per Cent in Production and Transportation Last Two Months—High Wages Blamed For High Prices Which Cause Buyers To Wait For Drops.

"If present tendencies in the production and transportation of coal are not speedily changed," says the Railway Age, "the American people within a few months will be confronted with the most serious danger of a coal famine ever known."

"It is but two months since the week ended December 11 when the mines produced and the railroads transported 12,565,000 tons of bituminous coal. They are now producing and transporting only 7,300,000 tons weekly, a decline of 43 per cent. Today 175,000 coal cars are standing idle because consumers and dealers are not buying and the mines are not producing coal with which to load them."

"The situation demands the immediate attention of coal consumers, dealers and operators, railway officials and the interstate commerce commission."

"The only time within recent years, except during the miners' strike, when the production and transportation of coal were anywhere near so small as they are now was early in 1919. The situation now, however, is much more threatening than then. Not only is less coal being produced than then, but the country entered the year 1919 with a storage supply of about 58,000,000 tons, the largest amount ever on hand at the beginning of a year, while it entered the year 1921 with comparatively small storage supplies."

"The production of coal continued to fall throughout the first half of 1919. Everybody knows the sequel. The storage supplies were almost exhausted. Business suddenly revived, and with it the demand for coal. The railroads were unable to transport it as fast as it was wanted and could be produced, and a howl went up all over the country that there was danger of a coal famine and that the railroads were to blame. In November, 1919, came the strike in the coal mines, which was followed by a coal shortage of several months' duration, due not only to the strike but to the small production in the early part of 1919. The railroads throughout 1920 had to make herculean exertions to get enough coal to the northwest to keep it from freezing and enough to New England and other parts of the country to keep their industries going. Priority had to be given to the use of open top cars for the transportation of coal, with the result that many business activities, especially building and highway construction, had to be practically stopped."

"We are moving toward a repetition of this experience, but in a more serious form and with more serious consequences. The average consumption of coal in this country for four years has been more than 10,000,000 tons a week. The reduction of consumption owing to mild weather and industrial depression has been large, but far from sufficient to justify a reduction of production to 7,300,000 tons a week."

"Consumers and dealers won't buy. Probably the main reason why they won't buy is the present prices. They are lower than those of a few months ago, but still high. The main reason they stay so high is the excessive wages being paid to the miners."

"The advance in the daily wage rate between 1918 and 1920 was from $3.00 to $7.50, or 150 per cent."

"The present wage scale was adopted to stay in effect until April 1, 1922. Since the miners in the past have repeatedly demanded and secured advances in wages before contract periods have expired, there is no reason why the mine operators should not demand and secure a reduction of wages before the present contract period expires."

"The question of whether there is to be any reduction of miners' wages and consequent further reduction of the price of coal this year should be settled as soon as possible so as to reduce the length of the buyers' strike."

"In every year for four years the transportation and business of the country have been demoralized by the demand that the railroads should in certain periods to prevent a coal shortage handle more coal than they are physically capable of handling."

"The railroads and the interstate commerce commission should definitely announce at an early date in terminating no possibility of misadventure, that no priority will be given to coal this year, no matter what may be the alleged necessities of coal producers and consumers of those of any section. The railroads can transport all the coal the country needs if given opportunity to handle it in reasonably uniform volume. The railroads should come to be made the 'post' for these over-hauling coal crises."

"Beauty in All Useful Things. When we look into the vision of the future and see the good there in the work of us to do, we realize, after all, what a beautiful thing it is to work and to live and be happy."

NO USE CRYING OVER SPILT MILK

"The theory is good that you're not in the past, paying for repairs on a worn-out or antiquated plumbing system or, perhaps, paying doctor's bills due to the same cause."

"You can't have it both ways, however, so you must drain on your resources. Modern sanitary plumbing fixtures will save you money and safeguard the health of your family. They are attractive to appearance, easy to clean and keep clean, and will save you time and money and repeated repairs. Now about that broken down toilet."

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

IV—GEORGIA

ON JANU. 2, 1788, Georgia accepted the Constitution and became the fourth state in the Union. The settlement of Georgia was conceived as a buffer against the depredations of the Spaniards and Indians, whose invasions of South Carolina had reached a climax in 1715 with a raid in which four or five hundred settlers had been massacred. To protect South Carolina from future incursions James Oglethorpe planned a colony to the south, and in 1732 he obtained from George II a grant of land. The new territory was consequently named Georgia, after the king. The deed stated that the land was granted "in trust for the poor." This referred to Oglethorpe's plan to have the settlers the insolvent debtors who, according to the laws of that time in England, were cast into prison. Many of these were released from prisons and re-enclosed by some Germans and Scotch Highlanders, founded the town of Savannah in 1733 and rapidly spread up and down the coast, where successful plantations of rice and indigo soon became established. Georgia continued to prosper until the population of its 50,205 square miles entitles it to a representation of 14 presidential electors.

GREAT ACTRESS KISSED POET

Sarah Bernhardt Made Her Meeting With Longfellow an Event to Be Remembered.

When Sarah Bernhardt came to America in the seventies she brought her "side line." As soon as she arrived in Boston she expressed a desire to do the bust of Longfellow, says the Christian Science Monitor. Longfellow, however, though not insensible of the honor, declined. He said that he was about to leave for Portland, Me., and feared that Miss Bernhardt would have departed before his return. Then, to mitigate the curtness of his refusal, he asked the tragedienne to his home, inviting William Dean Howells and Oliver Wendell Holmes to meet her.

They became very amiable toward one another, and Longfellow, who spoke excellent French, praised Miss Bernhardt's performance of "Phedre," telling her she surpassed the great Rachel, whom he had seen 50 years earlier. The actress, not to be outdone, told the poet how much she enjoyed reading "Hiawatha," which she pronounced Hee-a-vat-er.

Evidently the affair of the sculptured bust did not rankle, for on her departure, as the poet and his other guests were escorting her to her carriage, she turned about suddenly, impulsively threw her arms about Longfellow's neck and, kissed him on the cheek, said: "Vous etes adorable."

Kidnap Chinese From Legation.
Kang-Shih-to, formerly treasurer of the Anfu club, who since the recent downfall of that alleged pro-Japanese organization has been in hiding in the Russian legation and for whose arrest a reward of $10,000 was offered by the Chinese government, has just been the victim of a coup on the part of Chinese servants employed in the legation, according to a dispatch from Peking, China. They entered Kang's bedroom in the early hours of the morning, bound him, wrapped him in a bed quilt and hoisted him over the legation wall. Accomplices delivered him into the hands of the squad of gendarmes which had been waiting for weeks for an opportunity to capture him and other refugees supposed to have hidden in foreign legations.

Woman's Latest Venture.
An engineering factory, organized, controlled, and managed by women, who also execute the orders at the little apt in the factory—that is the latest enterprise of the "weaker sex."

It is one which deserves every success.

At the head of the firm, called Atlanta, Ltd., is Lady Parsons, the wife of the famous engineer and inventor of the steam turbine. The factory was started in the Midlands by 25 women ex-war workers. Good orders have already been secured, and Lady Parsons is convinced that these pleasure women engineers will be successful.

"There is nothing," she says, "that a woman cannot do when she tries."—London Times.

How Lightning Kills.
Numbers of cattle of South by light may have failed to reveal any direct effect of the passage of an electric current through the human body. The evidence indicates that death is caused indirectly by shock. The result is physiological rather than physical, the shock inducing heart failure or other organic disturbances.

Scientists striving have been forced to a further discovery the child in two arms was captured. Parents under the influence of a drug or drugged state to escape. This seems to indicate that the psychological element is an important consideration.—Popular Science Monthly.

That brings down to time. Just Foulkes says a woman can always make a man find his work of his home by threatening to make him go shopping with her.

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

By E. W. BERAUD, President American Society for Thrift.

Home ownership is one of the best examples of thrift, and many families have gained their first thrift experiences when they began saving money with this worthy end in view.

America today needs more homes and more home owners. She needs not only added housing facilities, but the stabilizing influences of wider home ownership in our social and economic life.

The man who owns a little piece of ground and the roof over his head gains a deep appreciation of property rights, the orderly processes of society and the constructive influences of thrift. He has a tangible example of the beneficial qualities of economy. He has a solid rock on which to stand in times of stress. He acquires a sense of proprietary independence that cannot fail to add to his own rightful self-esteem.

All phases of thrift work are to be encouraged, but in home ownership we find a field in which practicality and whole-some sentiments are happily mingled. At the present time especially, America is in need of stimulated building activities. There is a housing shortage which for three years has been growing more acute in all types of structures, but the slowing up processes have been particularly manifest in residences.

As a result of over-crowding, harmful effects have resulted, particularly in the congested districts of the larger cities, and the nation's need of more homes has reached the dignity of a grave national problem.

Many agencies and forces are now working to alleviate these unwholesome conditions, and they are worthy of every rightful encouragement.

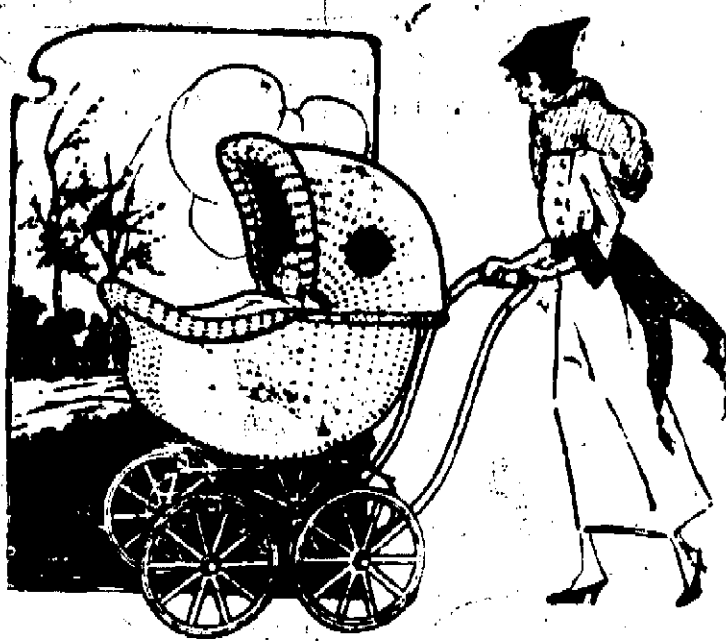

It is to be remembered that plans for home ownership are to be undertaken with due prudence. Nothing would be gained by rushing blindly into any arrangement without first giving careful consideration to every detail. No family should attempt to buy or build a home that is beyond their means and they should be sure that they are exercising good judgment and thrift in their decisions as to price, location and all other possible conditions.

These are all matters in which one may with the exercise of due care be properly safeguarded.

First of all make the resolution that you are going to have your own home; then save, plan and act in accordance with these worthy thrift impulses and the dictates of good judgment.

ADVANTAGE NOW WITH WOMEN

Modern Feminine Garments—Such That They No Longer Need "Take All Day to Dress."

No longer does it "take her all day to dress." Quietly and steadily woman has got rid of many checks upon rapidity of dressing; has consolidated garments, abolished buttons, done away with hooks and eyes, abandoned very often even corsets and the "fixing" of her hair, while man is quite as slow a dresser now as when Uncle C. Depeu repeated his first story.

Not, of course, if woman garbs herself for purposes strictly social. This means one-teeth dressing and one-tenth preparation of an armistice that no stupid League of Nations would ever hope to curb. Very different is the morning method of feminine executives, of girls intent on business, study or art, of staid-speaking ladies when in transit.

REVEALS TUBERCULOSIS CURE

Treatment Heals and Immunizes Patient, French Doctor Reports to Academy.

Paris.—Professor D'Arnaud, member of the Institute of the Academy of Medicine, has presented a report to the French Academy of Sciences on the curative treatment of tuberculosis by a new method discovered by the Swiss bacteriologist, Henry Spahlinger.

"The treatment takes the form of injections of antitoxins and ferments, which are modified according to the condition of the patient. It aims first at eradicating the acute symptoms, then immunizing the patient, completing the cure and preventing a relapse."

Our Local Savings and Loan Associations

HOMESEEKERS—1889

The Home-Seekers' Co-Operative Savings and Loan Association, with offices at 3 East Strand, was incorporated and organized July 5, 1889. They hold their regular meetings on the first Monday of each month.

KINGSTON—1892

The Kingston Co-Operative Savings and Loan Association, with offices at 288 Wall street, was incorporated and organized in 1892, and hold their regular meetings on the first Friday night of each month.

HAVE STOOD THE TEST OF YEARS

Both of these Associations have thus stood the test of years and after becoming established, have never failed to pay good dividends and have always paid matured shares and withdrawing members promptly.

ARE UNDER THE BANKING LAW

They are organized under the State Banking Law and supervised by the Banking Department. Their securities and books are annually examined and audited by State Examiners.

HAVE LOW EXPENSE

They protect their shareholders in every possible way; pay the largest possible dividends; operate at the lowest possible expense; and loan to the prospective home owner to the limit of what their judgment dictates as being safe.

ENCOURAGE THRIFT AND AID IN HOME OWNING

They are instituted first to encourage THRIFT and second, to AID IN HOME OWNING. The habit of Thrift is developed by the fixed monthly saving plan. Home owning is aided by accepting and repaying the repayment of mortgage loans in regular but small monthly payments—as if it were rent; and, at the same time, giving the borrower his equal proportionate share of the earnings of the Association.

Both these Associations are conducted on substantially the same plan, varying only in minor and unimportant details.

MEMBERS OF NEW YORK STATE LEAGUE

They are part of a great system of Local Savings and Loan Associations of the State of New York, linked together in a State League, and entitled to the benefits of the unique and recently established Land Bank of the State of New York, which operates solely for the benefit of Savings and Loan Associations.

ARE EXEMPT FROM ALL TAXATION

Because of their co-operative features and their business of promoting home owning, both State and Nation have always exempted Savings and Loan Associations from the payment of any and all manner of taxes, including income taxes.

ARE CONSTRUCTIVE ORGANIZATIONS

They are constructive organizations, building up taxable property; putting a practical premium upon industry and thrift; giving character its full value as a financial asset; and making by way of money dividends an especially attractive return to its members.

They are safe, sane, practical, economical and profitable.

ENTERTAINED BY CLINTON CHAPTER

Eastern Star Lodge Visited by Grand Officers of District Who are Given Reception and Make Addresses—Chapter's Degree Work Good.

Friday night, March 11, was a gala night for Clinton Chapter, No. 445, O. E. S., and its members and Master Masons together with large contingents from other sections of the Greene-Clister district, were out in full strength to do honor to Right Worthy Sister Nellie V. Sawyer of Ellenville and Right Worthy J. W. Frankel, district deputy grand master, and assistant grand lecturer, respectively, of the district. These representatives of Most Worthy Dr. M. Frances Thornton, grand matron of New York State, were given a warm and cordial reception by the Clintonians and other Stars. Mrs. Sawyer, who is a great favorite in Clinton Chapter, added new luster to herself by her suave personality and charming manner, and her address was a "gem of the first water." It is no wonder that the prediction that Mrs. Sawyer will be a much beloved deputy in the district is being fulfilled. Her facile expression and grace in speech wins friends for her everywhere.

The assistant grand lecturer, who has a host of friends not only in the Order of the Eastern Star but among the Masonic fraternity in Kingston, was also heard again with keen interest. Mr. Frankel has spoken here a number of times and his address on a vital factor in the order's work was listened to with undivided attention. The grand officers were happily introduced by R. W. Grace V. Merrill and R. W. S. D. Scudder. The decorations were beautifully arranged and in keeping with the well-known traditions of Clinton Chapter. The worthy matron, Mrs. Gertrude Davis, a young woman possessing much charm, presided very pleasingly during his visit of the district officials. The conferring of the Star degrees was exceptionally well done by Clinton Chapter officers and they merited the laudatory words they received. A floral bouquet and another pretty gift were presented to Mrs. Sawyer. Mr. Frankel was also remembered with a gift. An unusually fine banquet brought the happy occasion to a close. A feature of the meeting was the presentation of the credentials to Mrs. Flora Ostrander of Clinton Chapter, who has been appointed grand representative of Alberta, Canada, to the New York state grand chapter. Mrs. Ostrander was also presented with beautiful floral bouquets.

Prior to the chapter session the grand officers were entertained at a dinner served in the private dining room of the Stuyvesant.

GIRLS SHOW HOW TO EAT

High School Homecoming Department Activities—Sophomores Too Good For Freshmen.

Wednesday morning in the high school assembly, some of the members of the homecoming department illustrated what good table manners really are. The illustration was very interesting and instructive and the girls should be complimented on the excellent manner in which they carried out their work.

Wednesday afternoon the Prizmas presented the two act farce "Annie Deborah." The play was very amusing and was an exhibition of fine acting. The members of the cast proved themselves excellent actors taking their parts in a most noteworthy style.

Friday morning the assembly period was somewhat varied by speaking. Miss Marion Bruckner spoke on good music as "The Listener's Part." She told of the various forms of music and their influence on people.

Miss Ruth Dana spoke on the qualities of three pieces of music which are in the memory contest and played parts of them at the same time. Her work was delivered in excellent style. Donald Church was the last speaker and delivered "The Song" by C. Hilton Turvey. This is a war story and a most inspiring one. Mr. Church held his audience spellbound throughout the entire recitation.

Friday afternoon in the local gymnasium, the senior and sophomore boys clashed in an interclass basketball contest. The game was nip and tuck throughout the entire time and might have been a victory for the seniors had not the final whistle blown just as Connelly shot a field goal. Thus the goal did not count and the Sophs won 17-15.

Tuesday afternoon the Sophomore and Freshmen boys staged another interclass game. As a result the Sophomores won out 13-10.

MITCHELL'S BRAVES HAVE TALENT

By Jack Veiock.

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, March 12.—"With the youngest ball club in the major league and one of the youngest managers in the country, I expect to see the Boston Braves in the fight for the 1921 pennant from the start."

George Washington Grant, president of the Braves, who is on his way to Galveston, Texas, training camp today made this declaration as he boarded a train for the Lone Star state.

Fred Mitchell will lead the Braves back into the spotlight. Grant continued, enthusiastically.

"I believe he's off for a big year and I know that he is confident he has the material necessary to rebuild our team."

"Hank Gowdy and Dick Rudolph are the only veterans of the old Braves remaining on the roster. The rest of our players have come to us since 1914 and we have signed every one of the 34 men who will start active training under Mitchell in Galveston next week."

"Gowdy, by the way, is not for sale, regardless of the many rumors that are going around. I can say frankly that the Boston Club would consider a deal for Gowdy but Mitchell would not let him get away unless he could secure players in return who would strengthen our line-up."

"We have nine outfielders from whom to make a final selection in Southworth and Nicholson, secured from Pittsburgh in the Maranville trade. Cruise, Powell, Sullivan, Fayres, Nixon, McDonald and Archdeacon. Out of this talent I expect to see Mitchell form one of the best outfielders in the National league."

"We traded Maranville because Mitchell needed two hard hitting outfielders and he got them in Southworth and Nicholson. We also got Barbare, whom I expect to see at his best as a regular this year."

"Pitchers, seven of whom have had major league experience, will give Mitchell plenty of talent from which to build a hurling staff. I expect to see Dick Rudolph come back in great shape. He says his arm is weak no longer and I believe his year's lay-off did him a lot of good. We recently signed 'Red' Miller, who was caught with the Pirates and in Cleveland. Philmar, Watson, Scott and McQuillen will be pitching strength of known caliber."

"With Hoke will play first base for us again this year but the back up of the rest of the infield is in doubt and Mitchell will do some experimenting with Russell, Rube, Ford, Lacy, Quinn and others before settling on a regular line-up."

"I look for a great race for the pennant this year. New York will have a mighty strong contribution to the field. Brooklyn will be there with a good team as will the Montreal and St. Louis. The Pirates, Cardinals and Reds will be strong. Kansas City is likely to surprise some of the old-time Cubs."

HUDSON WINS FROM MIDGETS

In a last half rally the Hudson Midgets overcame a two point lead Friday afternoon at the high school and scored the Kingston High School Midgets by a score of 16 to 12. At the end of the first half Kingston had amassed 7 points and Hudson but 5. The lead was short lived when the Hudson quintet came back with a rush in the last half and by staging a five man rally they drew ahead and came out on the hour end of the score. The game was hard fought and fast all through with Bryant, Hudson's right forward, starring for the Cement City boys. In the last half Bryant dropped in two neat ones which clinched the game for the up-river team. Burger's excellent floor work was the feature for the locals.

Several times Kingston had a chance to score but poor pass work defeated the purpose and an inability to hold the ball proved to be the undoing of the locals. The score:

Revising Football Rules.

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, March 12.—Members of the football rules committee discussed proposed changes in the code at a protracted night session without reaching any definite conclusions and the meeting held over until today.

No definite news has come out of the meeting room but it was learned that Perry Haughton's recommendation that a forward pass, blocked behind the line of scrimmage, assume the status of a "free ball" was given much consideration.

So, also, did the much maligned goal from touch down.

Guests in Every One's Makeup.

You were made to master unfavorable conditions, made to rise above what others regard as misfortunes, handicaps and stumbling blocks. There is something in you that is bigger than any fate or destiny, anything which is trying to do you; something in you that is mightier than the influence of others which is trying to keep you back. There is something in you that can laugh at fate.—Orison Swift Marden.

FEAR OF ELECTRIC CHAIR IS GONE

Criminals Hold Life in This Age a Cheap Gamble With Odds in Their Favor, Says Warden of Sing Sing—Believes Death Penalty Will Be Abolished.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Ossining, March 12.—One hundred and eighty have gone the way of "the chair" in Sing Sing prison. Last year, seventeen walked the march of death through the "little green door." In the first two months of this year, three more have paid the extreme penalty and March was ushered in with another electrocution.

With the announcement of these figures, given in an interview to the International News Service recently, Warden Lewis E. Lawes stated that fear of electrocution no longer exists in the criminal mind.

"Electrocution as at present carried out does not keep down the number of murders," he said in discussing the recent crime wave which has swept the country and has been attended by many wanton killings.

The list of murders has grown appallingly all over the country. Most of them have been committed, not for some great or fancied wrong, but in connection with hold-ups and petty robberies, the taking of life, life itself, for a son. Warden Lawes stated that possibly this is due to an after the war condition. Certain it is that life is held cheaply now and to many criminals justice is a cheap gamble and the electric chair is no longer a spectre to deter them from capital crimes.

"The odds are all with the murderer in this gamble," said Warden Lawes. "The percentage of those not usually executed is so small compared to the number of murders committed that capital punishment fails as a deterrent."

"Here is another astounding fact," said Warden Lawes. "The majority of men who now occupy the death house have not been previously confined in prison." Life, indeed, has become a cheap gamble.

In fact, there now exists a spirit of bravado such as never before has been manifest. A typical instance of this was shown not so long ago when five condemned men were put to death at Sing Sing in a space of little over an hour, passing one after the other into the death chamber.

"Give her the gas—turn on the juice," said one of the men as he was strapped into the chair.

At Sing Sing where all electrocutions for New York state are now carried out, the toll of lives in exacting the extreme penalty is higher than in any other prison in the country because of the large state population. But in many of the thirty states which have capital punishment the stout oaken chair with its electrodes and straps has worked overtime in recent months. And in all of them electrocutions are carried out in practically the same manner.

Science has made wonderful progress in recent years in prolonging life, new serums and anti-toxins have been discovered and surgery has advanced to a marked degree, but the method of taking life remains the same.

"Electrocution was introduced in this state nearly thirty years ago," said Warden Lawes, "but the chair today is the same as it has always been. Except for the amount of current used and the length of the contact, there has been no change. In former years 1,500 volts were used. Today 2,000 volts are used and better results are obtained."

Asked as to whether he did not think that in time science will bring forth some radically new and different method of carrying out the mandate of capital punishment, Warden Lawes replied that he did not believe any change would be made. "If capital punishment is necessary," he said, "electrocution is both effective and humane as to method."

"All prisons are using practically the same methods. From the time the contact is given until pronounced dead by the physician, the average is eight minutes. The first contact is for a period of one minute and fifteen seconds. The second is usually for five seconds. From the time the first contact is applied, the man is entirely unconscious. Care is taken to prevent burning and defacement, else the execution could be accomplished more quickly.

"Let me say, however," said Warden Lawes, "that to those in charge of carrying out the mandate of capital punishment it is indeed a most disagreeable duty. To those who must enforce the law it is one topic usually avoided."

"I believe that in time capital punishment will be abolished."

First Users of Tobacco.

Although many efforts have been made to show that the use of tobacco was known to the ancient Greeks and Egyptians, it has not been conclusively proven. It is generally accepted that the American aborigines are entirely responsible and that Columbus was the first to chronicle its use.

A Good Deal

Of Home Churn Butter Made For Maltman Company.

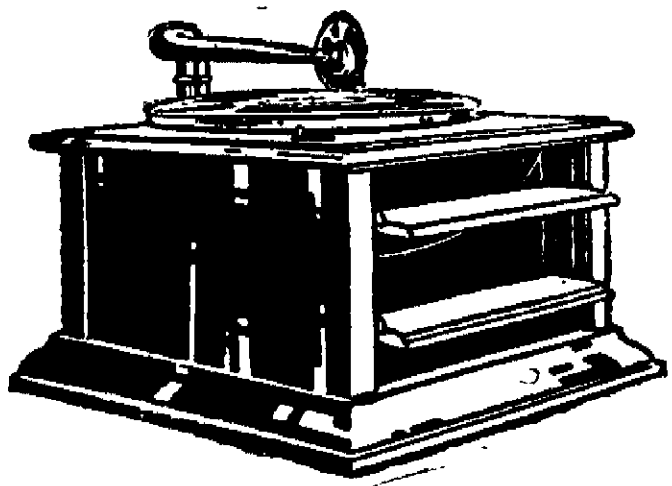

The unloading of a large motor van from Troy in front of the Mohican store on Wall street last Friday afternoon attracted the attention of a great many people. It came down on the west side of the Hudson river with a seven-ton load of meats, and the chauffeur said he had a hard time making the trip owing to the bad condition of roads of the road. There was unloaded for the Mohican 300 shinback and Star hams from Armour, 45 pounds of beef, 50 lambs, many boxes of pork loins, strips of bacon, besides other meat products. Later in the evening a motor van from Albany arrived with a cargo for the Mohican.
